Dear Mr. Driscoll:

Thank you for your letter of July 13, 2007, requesting documents concerning the peer review of our Exposure Investigation: Airborne Exposures to Sulfur Dioxide, Particulate Matter, and Selected Metals. Consistent with our established practice, we will provide this information to you as part of the public health consultation that will be developed for this site. The health consultation will include the exposure investigation peer review comments, our responses to the peer review comments, our exposure investigation sampling results, and our public health evaluation of the sampling results and other site-related information. The health consultation will be released as a document that is available for public comment. Any comments we receive during the public comment period will be addressed in the final consultation. This process ensures that all stakeholders will simultaneously receive all the information of our public health evaluation.

Our current estimate is that we will receive necessary information and begin to develop the public health consultation by the end of 2007. At that point, we should be able to project forward when we will be able to release the health consultation. We will update you accordingly.

Sincerely yours,
