Questions and Discussion

- Is the definition and approach to consensus in the operating procedures clear? Does the "disclaimer" language reflect this?
- Can members agree to seek consensus at this meeting, with a review of the final document and an executive summary after the meeting to confirm that it reflects what was discussed?
- Can members agree to a final, "light" edit by a professional editor, with the co-chairs' oversight that all changes are editorial in nature and do not make substantive changes?
- Should the report have an executive summary, and what should the review process be?
